Once Mighty Navy Of Japan Is Now Complete Wreck

Latest Attacks Ruin Remnants Of Navy Hiding In Jap Home Waters

TWENTY WARSHIPS BLASTED RECENTLY

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 26.—The record two-day Anglo-American carrier plane attack against Japan drew an unofficial soft peace bid today from the Tokyo radio.

Virtual elimination of Nippon as a sea power with the crippling of 20 Japanese warships by the most tremendous carrier onslaught in history found Tokyo radio issuing a plea for a more lenient American attitude in regard to peace with Japan.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz revealed that Tuesday, in the first day of carrier strikes by as many as 1,000 Allied aircraft, 20 Jap warships, including three battleships, six carriers and five cruisers, were blasted in Japan's inland sea.

This Jap fleet segment—shattered and burned and near the enemy's number one naval base of Kure—represented virtually all that was left of Nippon's once-mighty Imperial surface armada.

Blast 209 Planes

The carrier planes in their massive blow at the heart of Japan also destroyed or damaged 209 enemy planes up to an early hour Wednesday.

Morover, 84-non-combatant Nip vessels were sunk or crippled in the first day of the unprecedented assault.

In addition to the specific toll taken of the enemy's fleet and air forces, Nimitz communique disclosed that Adm. William F. Halsey's two-nation carrier forces shattered

Tokyo Radio Appeals For "Bargain Peace"

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio stretched out the olive branch today, appealing for a bargain peace, but still refused to say "uncle" to the allied unconditional surrender formula.

With affected poignancy, evidently engendered by the virtual destruction of Nippon's navy, a Tokyo broadcaster said Japanese "military" leaders would "automatically" call off the war if a "liberal America" were to offer more "lenient" terms.

The Jap radio spokesman even invoked the Atlantic charter in his plea for a compromise peace—the strongest such bid openly proffered by the enemy thus far.

Appeal Is Issued

While the Anglo-American third fleet still prowled Nippon's home waters after smashing the remnants of the imperial navy and reducing Japan's dwindling air power, the Tokyo announcer uttered his appeal in an English-language broadcast. Addressing himself to North America, as reported by the FCC, he said: "Should America show any sincer-

Japanese Report Landing Effort Close To Malaya

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—(INS)—The Tokyo radio reported today that allied amphibious forces have landed on Thailand's Puket island under the cover of a heavy barrage from two cruisers.

The enemy broadcast described the landings as an apparent attempt to isolate Japanese forces in Malaya and Singapore.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—(INS)—Amphibious allied forces landed on the Thai (Siamese) island of Puket off northern Malaya, it was reported today by the Jap Domei agency which claimed the invaders later were driven "back to the sea".

A Domei dispatch, recorded by the FCC, said the landing—first allied ground attack on Thai territory—had "ended in complete failure".

The operation—possibly a preliminary move in a potential campaign to cut off the Japs in Malaya, Singapore and the western part of the Netherlands East Indies—was stated by Tokyo to have been spearheaded by 500 shock troops.

Quoting what it called "latest information" reaching Tokyo, Domei said two cruisers, "identified as American", had approached and shelled Puket island at about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Japan time.

Approximately an hour later, the Jap agency related, "some 500" troops stormed ashore from five landing barges on the island's northwest tip. Puket's Jap garrison, Domei claimed, "immediately counter-attacked and repulsed the enemy troops from the landing point with heavy casualties inflicted on the invaders."

President Truman Reaches Frankfurt

Troops Reviewed And Visit Is Made To Headquarters Of Gen. Eisenhower Today

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 26.—President Harry S. Truman arrived in his private plane at Eschborne Army air field today to visit the headquarters of General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The President took the opportunity of the temporary recess in the "Big Three" conference at Potsdam to review American troops and talk with General Eisenhower.

With the Chief Executive was Secretary of State James Byrnes whose plane landed at the airport shortly before that of the President.

Byrnes' plane was greeted by a guard of honor and General Eisenhower came forward to greet the secretary of state. The same procedure was followed when President Truman's plane landed.

Troops inspected by the President were the 508 Paratroop Regiment of the 82nd Airborne Division.

Members of the President's party said the flight from Potsdam to Frankfurt was smooth and without incident.

After lunch with General Eisenhower and members of his staff the President enjoyed a 40-mile drive through Frankfurt and Darmstadt.

The Chief Executive made no stops during the trip although on several occasions the presidential cavalcade rolled by columns of troops and vehicles lining the road and drawn up for inspection.

Petain Trial In Fourth Day

Counsel For Petain Complains That Guilty Verdict Is Foregon Conclusion

FORMER PREMIER HERRIOTT WITNESS

By THURSTON MacAULEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 26.—The treason trial of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain entered its fourth day today in the blazing hot palace of justice where the aged marshal's chief council complained bitterly that a guilty verdict was a "foregone conclusion."

The trial got under way at 1:20 p. m. (Paris Time) when Petain walked stiffly into the packed, sweltering court.

Jules Jeanneney, 80-year-old minister of state, was the first witness called today by the prosecution. Jeanneney, former resident of the French senate, was among those who opposed Petain when he capitulated to the Germans.

If the testimony of Jeanneney is concluded in time, former premier Eduard Herriot also is exected to be called to the stand today by the prosecution.

Many More Witnesses

After Herriot, the prosecution had nine more witnesses to be called and the defense announced their intention of placing 45 witnesses on the stand.

Two More Cities Of Japan Added To Bomb Ruined

By KENNETH McCALEB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 26.—Two more Japanese cities—Sendai and Choshi—were added today to the growing roster of enemy war centers burned out by Superfortress fire bombs.

Reconnaissance photos showed Sendai nearly 28 per cent ruined and pictured the shambles of Choshi as extending over more than 26 per cent of that city's area. The two cities were hit with incendiary downpours July 10 and 20 respectively.

These new damage assessments raised to a total of 143 square miles the urban and industrial areas of 39 Japanese cities burned over by the fiery cascades of the Superforts.

Await Other Photos

Satisfactory reconnaissance photos have not yet been obtained over the blackened sectors of seven other enemy cities also kindled by B-29s.

Sendai is the largest city on northern Honshu, with a population of more than 220,000. This strike was the most distant B-29 million flown to date, a round-trip of 3,960 miles.

Damage to military targets in Sendai included 80 per cent destruction of divisional and regimental headquarters of the Japanese army and extensive gutting of railroad yards, warehouses and the gas works.

At Choshi, 60 miles east of Tokyo, flames razed vast areas of sprawling docks and canneries, choking off the processing of one-eighth of the entire Japanese fish catch.

Also listed today as "removed" from immediate enemy usefulness were a kamikaze nest for Jap suicide pilots and three sources of oil for the creaking cogs of the Nippon war machine, all on Honshu.

New Progress In Kweilin Drive

Chinese Smash Into Key Town Of Yangsu In Latest Advance

CHUNGKING, July 26.—(INS)—The Chinese high command announced today that Chungking forces driving against Kweilin had crashed into the key town of Yangsu where bitter fighting is in progress.

Yangsu, once an important air base for American forces, is 35 miles south of Kweilin, an important Jap supply base and the site of three strategic airdromes.

Four Chinese columns are taking part in the drive on Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province, which once served the U. S. 14th Air Force as headquarters. A second of these columns was reported in Chungking to have advanced within 12 miles of Kweilin from the north.

The Chungking communique made no mention of the positions of the other two columns.

Japanese forces in Indo-China made another desperate attempt to break out of the closing ring of the Chinese armies in a counter-attack across the frontier from Dong Dang.

An estimated 700 troops took part in the Japanese thrust which Chungking said was repulsed.

Charter Debate May Be Carried Into Second Week

Possibility Seen, However, That Vote May Be Reached In Senate Saturday

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—Debate on ratification of the United Nations charter threatened today to be carried into its second week by the controversy over whether the Senate shall have the exclusive right to ratify military agreements under the security pact.

Senate leaders, conceding that the unexpected turn of floor debate had been "helpful" even though delaying, predicted that the ratification vote now would not be reached until Saturday or Monday.

May Vote Saturday

Majority Leader Barkley said the final action would come Saturday if it was clear that debate could be wound up that day. Otherwise, the charter will carry over until next week. The latter appeared probable in view of the fact that at least 17 senators remained to take the floor with lengthy speeches.

The "bill-versus-treaty" squabble over the implementing agreement whereby this country will provide armed forces to the new world organization broke out Tuesday. It occupied all of yesterday's debate and remained the one central topic of discussion today.

"The debate has been helpful," said Barkley, "in that it has served notice that we don't foreclose ourselves on whether this is to be done by treaty or joint resolution."

WASHINGTON, July 26.—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles announced today that ration values for most cuts of beef, lamb and veal will be reduced one to two points per pound for the period beginning July 29.

Bowles said that civilian meat supplies will increase 11 per cent over June, when sotcks reached their lowest level.

Hamburger, porterhouse, T-bone, club and sirloin steaks and lamb and veal loin chops will be reduced two points. Values for boneless rump roasts are cut three points.

Senate Committee To Get Demands For Investigation, Says Senator Wagner

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D) N. Y., chairman of the senate banking committee, said today he would lay demands for the investigation of OPA before committee members.

He indicated, however, that the demand made chiefly by Republican senators would be rejected.

"I am putting the question before the members of my committee before the senate recess," said Wagner. "Those with whom I have talked thus far say that while OPA has made mistakes it is doing a good job on the whole and they see no need for the inquiry.

"I haven't canvassed all of them, however, and I personally want to hear a little more from those asking the inquiry."

Would "Police" O. P. A.

Senate Republicans united in demanding formation of a committee to "police" OPA, which was granted another year's lease on life by congress, in order that complaints can be sifted.

The party steering committee talked of creation of an unofficial investigating committee, but this idea apparently was being dropped.

Sen. Capehart (R) Ind., who introduced an investigation resolution with Sen. Tydings (D) Md., said it would do no good to create an unofficial Republican committee without authority to subpoena witnesses.

"For some reason the administration leaders don't seem to want OPA investigated," said Capehart. "I am not surprised because it is the worst managed institution in the government. I will concede it also has the worst job."

Sen. Morse (R) Ore., who also demanded an inquiry of OPA, said he would persist in his efforts.

Morse charged that OPA policies "not only are causing wastage of food, but are endangering good government."

Eight More Jap Cargo Vessels Reported Sunk

MANILA, July 26.—(INS)—Eight more Jap cargo vessels were listed today as victims of the continuing blockade of Asiatic coastal waters by planes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command.

MacArthur announced that seven Jap surface craft—a freighter, two smaller vessels and four barges—were sunk along the French Indo-China coast by a flight of three Liberators.

The same planes started fires in waterfront facilities and damaged railroad installations in Indo-China.

One of the Liberators was lost when an oil barge exploded directly under it.

The eighth Jap vessel—a lugger—was destroyed farther south in the gulf of Siam by U. S. planes which also set afire the Trengganu shipyards at Malaya.

Cruiser Santa Fe Returns To Action

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—The navy department announced today that the newly repaired USS Santa Fe has returned to battle after setting a record for extended front line action tours in the Pacific.

The light cruiser steamed more than 221,000 miles in 25 months without a major overhaul, sinking seven Jap ships and downing seven enemy planes while participating in 42 air strikes, 12 shore bombardments and four surface actions.

Destroyed by the Santa Fe in the north, south and central Pacific areas during the war's longest front-line tour of any major naval unit were one Jap escort carrier, a light cruiser, a destroyer and four cargo ships.

British Will Not Slow Down In War On Japs

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—A prominent British Labor party member said in Washington today that Prime Minister Winston Churchill's defeat "will absolutely not interfere with British prosecution of the Japanese war."

"In fact," he added, "it might mean that it will be prosecuted with more vigor than before. We hate the Japs just as much as you do."

Official and diplomatic quarters meanwhile speculated on the possibility that the election overturn might delay adjournment of the "Big Three" conference at Potsdam.

New Superfort Raids On Japan

(BULLETIN)

GUAM, July 27—(Friday)—(INS)—More than 350 American superfortresses renewed their fire bomb attacks early today and rained more than 2,000 tons of the incendiaries on three more Japanese cities.

After a week of concentrated pinpoint bombing of enemy industrial targets with high exlosives, Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay's twentieth air force sent three task forces of the giant B-29's to strike Omuta, on Kyushu island, Matsuyama, on Shikoku, and Tokuyama on Honshu.

Carried out in the early morning darkness, the attack, made at medium levels, brought to 48 the number of cities targeted in sixty incendiary raids.

Attlee Issues Statement; But Churchill's Silent

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 26—(INS)—Prime Minister-Elect Clement Attlee issued an official post-election statement today in which he declared:

"I and my colleagues fully realize the magnitude of the task that faces us, but I believe the people have made up their minds on the kind of policy they want at home and abroad and have confidence that Labor can deliver the goods."

Winston Churchill remained inside No. 10 Downing Street today. Up to a late hour he had issued no statement on the elections' results.

Landslide Vote Sweeps Churchill From High Office

Maj. Clement R. Attlee Is Certain To Succeed Churchill As Prime Minister

LABOR PARTY TO BE IN CONTROL

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 26.—(INS)—The latest official tabulation on the British election at 5:30 p. m. (British Time) today gave the following seating results:

Labor—389.
Conservatives—200.

LONDON, July 26.—(INS)—The British Labor party headed by Maj. Clement R. Attlee today won what is believed to be an absolute over-all working majority in parliament, regardless of any other party or affiliation.

It was the first time in history that Labor had achieved such a victory in this country.

At 2 p. m., an official estimate gave the opposition an aggregate of 7,014,405 votes as against 4,660,176 for the government.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 26.—A sensational Labor landslide threw Winston Spencer Churchill out of office as Britain's first minister today and ensured delegation of Maj. Clement Richard Attlee as his successor.

Four hours in advance of the time expected for a decision, the Conservative party at 1:30 p. m. conceded that Labor had won out overwhelmingly in Britain's first parliamentary elections in ten years.

LONDON, July 26—(INS)—Prime Minister-elect Clement Attlee today declared:

"This is the first time in the history of this country that Labor ever had a clear majority, and it will enable us to implement the policy of the Socialist party."

At least eight members of Churchill's national government were defeated in their own constituencies.

How Vote Runs

At the time, the aggregate vote stood as follows:

Conservative: 2,713,460.
Labor: 4,114,707.
Liberal: 598,731.

Both Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden held their own seats in parliament by virtue of victory in their own constituencies.

But "Winnie's" immeasurably successful war-time national coalition government has virtually ceased to exist.

The parties opposing Churchill appeared to have won a clear majority of 320 seats.

Straight Party Majority

Another unofficial estimate gave the Laborites 321 seats, including their new gains, giving them a straight party majority of two in

British Election Result Surprise To Washington

WASHINGTON, July 26—(INS)—Extreme surprise, measures of regret and expressions that it won't make any difference in Anglo-American relations reflected congressional reaction today to the defeat of the Churchill government.

To most senators and the few congressmen in Washington, the landslide of the Labor party was a distinct surprise.

The reaction of Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, senate leader, to the announcement of Churchill's defeat was typical of most legislators.

Told the Laborites had won and ousted Churchill, Barkley gave a startled:

"They did"

Declines Comment

Then he declined to comment on the possible effects of the election.

"I don't think it will have any bad effect on our relations," said Sen. Claude Pepper (D) Fla. "The Labor party, with all the British people are committed to friendly relations and cooperation to prosecute the war in the Pacific to its conclusion."

Pepper indicated great surprise at the outcome of the election.

Senate Minority Leader Wallace White of Maine and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) Mich., GOP spokesman on foreign policy, declined to comment.

"I never discuss foreign elections," said Vandenberg.

White too, said he did not want to "talk about British elections".

Sen. Scott Lucas (D) Ill., asked if he thought the Conservative party's defeat would affect any of the pending international cooperative moves, replied:

"Not a bit. I think we will continue to cooperate and go along together on all these problems."

the new Commons, with the Conservatives' aggregating approximately 160.

The latter figure was just about equal to the new gains registered by Labor.

From now on it is only a matter of formalities. Churchill will submit his resignation to King George VI and the latter will appoint Maj. Attlee as Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury in his place.

Attlee therefore will sign for the British Empire the documents being drafted at Potsdam to ensure subjugation of Germany, and the peace of Europe, taking his place with President Truman and Premier Generalissimo Joseph Stalin as spokesman for the King-Emperor and the people of Britain.

Maj. Attlee, deputy prime minister in Churchill's coalition government, has long been the leader of Britain's Labor party. Until the election was called for July 5 because of Churchill's insistence he be permitted to lead the coalition government until Japan has been defeated, Attlee was one of the prime minister's warmest supporters.

Bitter Election

The end of the war in Europe and the lifting of restrictions on free speech, however, combined to usher in an election campaign that was filled with bitterness and recriminations.

Attlee became Churchill's chief detractor, accusing him of wishing to perpetuate his personal power and of overlooking the enormous interests of labor in the post-war world.

Churchill, in reprisal, charged that a Laborite victory in the election would result in institution of a socialist "gestapo" in England. His charge was based on labor plans for a scientific listing of labor groups in the British Isles to facilitate reemployment, reconstruction and rehabilitation of war veterans.

This "gestapo" charge became the most bitter issue of the campaign and Churchill, for all his enormous personal popularity, was vigorously criticized.

Extent of Victory Surprise

The extent of labor's victory came as a great surprise. Well-informed political experts expected the race would be a close one and Churchill himself had warned he would step down unless he received a "good" majority.

But when the ballot boxes were opened, labor had carried the day against the strongest prime minister England ever had and placed in office the first Laborite to sit in 10 Downing street since the late Prime Minister James Ramsay McDonald.

Attlee, a modest, well-educated man with a fine university background and a shrewd political flair, is pledged to carry on the war against Japan with the same vigor and determination as was guaranteed by his predecessor.

In Britain, the effect of a labor victory will be felt sharply so far as domestic policies are concerned—and the same is true of the liberated nations of continental Europe.

A sharp swing to the left all along the line is inevitable.

So far as Britain was concerned, many districts long considered absolutely wedded to the conservative cause joined in the labor landslide.

1. Decreased military purchases accounts "almost entirely" for the increase in the supply for civilians during August.

2. The slaughter control program that OPA put into operation on May 1 has resulted in relatively more meat being shipped across state lines.

3. OPA's fair distribution order effective in June, has resulted in distributors shipping meat into the same geographical areas they supplied during the first quarter of 1944, when meat was last in plentiful supply and distribution approached normal.

Dangerous Cargo Of 30,000 Bombs Is Sunk In Ocean

Bomb Explodes, Endangers Crew, So Both Freighter And Cargo Are Sacrificed

LONDON, July 26. — (INS) — Thirty thousand American-made bombs which might have caused one of the greatest ship disasters of this war ended up in being quietly dumped in the Atlantic without loss of life.

With them went the ship they were carried in, the 31-year-old 4,800-ton British freighter "Empire Fal," known as the ship that was "too dangerous to touch."

While being unloaded in an English port on the Empire Fal's arrival from America, a bomb exploded after a fall of only three to four feet. There were no casualties however.

Army, navy and RAF bomb disposal experts prohibited further unloading, considering the whole cargo to be too dangerous.

Precautions Taken

Precautions were made to minimize the effects of the expected explosions.

Manned by a skeleton crew of volunteer merchant navy men the Empire Fal eventually left Hull, England.

She was picked up off the coast of Scotland by a naval escort and taken to deeper water in the Atlantic.

Time-fused explosive charges were set and the sea cocks opened. The crew abandoned ship by lifeboat and were picked up by a waiting destroyer.

It was the first time in the war that a ship had been deliberately sacrificed with her cargo.

"Will Continue To Resist"

The Jap broadcaster contended further that there are no "problems" between a "liberal America" and Japan. He said a "liberal America has never given occasion for Japanese militalists to rise, but America now talks of unconditional surrender for Japan."

"Though its official quarters keep relative silence," the enemy commentator continued, "its official publicists declare that Japan should be stripped of this or that.

"In short, they intend to mete out such a hard retribution that the Japanese people are more determined than ever to unite and resist as a united mass of 100 million souls and will so continue as long as American minds remain dictatorial and oppressive."

The Domei agency, as recorded by the FCC, said in a later transmission that Jap diplomats were aware of reports that the big three at Potsdam might have "reached a decision on the war against Japan." The Jap leaders, said Domei, were "remaining very calm" in the face of reports that the big three might issue a "joint proposal".

The Tokyo radio, in its peace feeler, portrayed Japan's leaders as practically ready to call it quits if the allies modify their unconditional surrender demand.

tion by courtroom spectators as to whether the 89-year-old marshal could stand the physical strain of such a prolonged hearing without interruption.

There were some indications that if his reported illness of two nights ago recurred, the defense planned to base a major portion of its plea on the age and senility of the marshal.

The testimony of Jeanneney covered virtually the same ground as that of former premiers Paul Reynaud and Edouard Daladier yesterday.

He quoted Petain as saying on the day the armistice with the Germans was signed that "I shall not leave France."

There was a brief flurry of excitement at the entrance of the court house just prior to the opening of the hearing when a group of young men attempted to force their way past police and soldier guards.

They shouted protest as they were forced back into the street.

In the small space allotted to spectators, there were some 25 American soldiers and several U. S. Wacs who listened attentively to the testimony. It was the first time Yanks had appeared among the spectators.

IN MEMORIAM

In memoriam to Jerome Dodds who passed away one year ago today.

The voice is mute and still the heart
That loved us well and true,
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by sister.

This morning the watchman's tower on the P. & L. E. freight tracks at the Grove street crossing was picked up by a crane, loaded on a flat car and removed.

Hot weather doesn't seem to be much handicap to the younger generation. Pa Newc noted several lads busily engaged in hurling a football around during the hottest period of the day on one street, and in another street girls were busy roller skating.

The New Wilmington district, which had several good rains a month ago when the storm clouds sidetracked New Castle, did not benefit by yesterday afternoon's storm. The rain stopped several miles short of the college town, but all districts in between got a good soaking.

From Pvt. G. N. Tallos at Lowry field, Colo., Pa. Newc has received the following communication: "I received a good 'ole' New Castle News from my family back home, and I read in your Pa Newc column (July 17) that the people of New Castle saw their first Superfort (B-29) the evening before. I am afraid you are wrong. Last summer (1944) either June, July or August, one afternoon there was one flying very low over the town. I believe you mentioned it in the column next day. I was working at the Johnson Bronze company in the engineering dept. and some of the members of that department who saw it also will back my statement."

Plan Streamlining Congress Program

WASHINGTON, July 26—(INS)—An intensive 15-week study by a joint committee for streamlining congress—the first of its kind since 1893—today was completed.

Rep. Monroney (D) Okla., vice-chairman of the 12-member house and senate group, said approximately 200 witnesses were heard on proposals for modernizing congress.

"Members of the committee are now drawing up their recommendations and will submit them during the summer recess," Monroney disclosed. "The committee will then meet and submit a report to the house and senate, probably in October."

To Make Recommendations

Monroney said the joint committee would make recommendations on proposals for abolishing some committees through consolidation with other groups, increasing salaries for congressmen and legislative employes and establishing a retirement system for members.

Indications were that the above proposals would furnish the committee with knotty problems and would raise many questions when considered in the house and senate.

Displaced Americans

The War Production Board quite properly takes pride in the fact that the tremendous wartime expansion of America's manufacturing facilities was accomplished without requiring great geographical dislocation of industry. What this means is that those centers which had been accustomed to producing goods speedily and on a large scale were for the most part the places which were selected as sites for new factories.

But this sound policy is being revealed to have had defects and probably the revelation will become still more pronounced when the war with Japan is over. One serious consequense of so enormous a consolidation of industry has been an equally great concentration of labor.

Thus, according to reports by the War Manpower Commission, more than 700,000 persons have migrated to the Detroit area alone since 1940. During that same period the civilian population of Wichita, Kansas, doubled, San Diego had a rise of 41 per cent, and cities like South Bend and Fort Worth have had increases of poulation of almost equal size.

Some day something will have to be done in the case of these hundreds of thousands of displaced Americans. Many, no doubt, will want to stay where they are. In that event work will have to be found for them or they will become a burden on relief agencies. The rest will feel the urge to go elsewhere, either to the old home towns or to cities where employment prospects seem brighter. Whatever happens, a problem will arise which will not be easy of solution.

More Work, More Food

It seems both reasonable to grant supplementary food ration points to men who do heavy labor as the OPA is just beginning to do. Loggers and harvest workers were granted extra rations some time ago. Now coal miners, deep-sea fishermen and some heavy construction workers are being added to the list.

Men who are engaged in these occupations use up a great deal more energy than a white-collar worker at a desk job or even than the average factory employe, the OPA contends. They require a proportionately more substantial diet. Most of the nations abroad, which have suffered from acute food shortages, recognized this in their original rationing plans.

In the United States this was not necessary in the early months of the war. There were sporadic shortages of foods such as butter, coffee and sugar, but the average diet, even under rationing, was high enough in energy foods so that no special consideration needed to be given men doing heavy labor.

But the situation has changed a great deal during the last twelve months. Shortages in protein foods, such as meat and cheese, have become increasingly grave. Miners, fishermen, loggers and heavy construction workers have been unable to get the amount of food they ought to have for strenuous manual labor. The new rules give them more food than the average individual.

One For Denmark

Interesting and reassuring news comes about Denmark, the sturdy little country of Northern Europe, which was one of the last to be freed from the Nazis.

Jean Hersholt, Danish-American screen and radio actor, and president of the America-Denmark Relief, has reported after a survey of the situation that Denmark will not seek aid from her allies, "neither cash, nor food, nor clothing"—after September 30 of this year. He continued:

"It was felt that other liberated countries were in graver need than Denmark and that, apart from the damage to the Island of Bornholm, Denmark suffered less during liberation operations than expected." Instead of being on the receiving end of charity, the actor said, Denmark will give to her neighbors "among other things 100,000 tons of fresh food before the end of September." He added that Denmark will have to rely on other countries for coal, ore and shipping "until she can stand again on her feet—but she will pay for what she is able to get."

Here is indeed a refreshing bit of news. It is to be hoped that other small nations of Europe will adopt the Denmark idea. Of course some of them were damaged worse than Denmark and will need more help. And they will get it. But it is the sturdy spirit that counts and Denmark shows she has plenty of it. If other nations will adopt the same spirit, so far as possible, then the picture in Europe will become brighter sooner than most people expect.

We can admire the Danish people for their sound spirit just as we have admired the Finnish people because they have always paid their debts.

Little Men, But Cause Much Trouble

Looking at some of the recent war pictures of Japanese soldiers captured on Okinawa, Americans are astonished at their size. Nearly all Japs are small, compared with western nations, but these seem like mere children. With their backs turned or without their uniforms, it would be hard to recognize them as fighting men. Yet they are specimens of the race that dreamed of conquering the world.

Their dreams, as they are slowly learning, were presumption and folly. In the iron test of modern war they cannot match our western defenders in strength, intelligence or resourcefulness. But they can make, and are making, an enormous lot of trouble, which will continue until they are thoroughly crushed, never to rise again in a foreseeable time.

Why did they ever make this rash attempt? Apparently they thought Americans were decadent; that they could quickly master them and reap the profit of a predatory war. But in the verdict of history they will doubtless appear rash and stupid. And this rashness and stupidity may be traced largely to a psychological factor—an enormous effort of little men—little alike in body and mind—to prove themselves big.

Navy Point System

Unlike the Army, the Navy has yet to reach the point where it can consider large-scale demobilization. The fleet still has its biggest job ahead, both in opening the way for invasion and in convoying men and supplies across the Pacific. Until this task is completed there is little likelihood that it will cut its strength below the present level of approximately 3,400,000.

It is good to know that despite this fact, the Navy now has under study a point formula for releases. The Navy would be wise to establish a system which could be expanded as its needs for manpower diminish.

In the beginning the new naval plan is intended to apply to only two rather small groups. The Navy believes that it's over-all efficiency can be increased by releasing the older men now in service and men not fully qualified for general service and replacing them with younger volunteers and draftees. But it is to be hoped that as time goes on the Navy will find it possible to discharge men who have been through the mill of combat for long periods of time.

WASHINGTON CALLING
by MARQUIS CHILDS

Difficult Task Faces N. L. R. B. Head

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Paul M. Herzog is a young man who has just taken on a load of trouble. As the new chairman of the national labor relations board, he steps into one of the hottest spots of government.

Not only has there been a bitter controversy within the board, but the board in its turn has been feuding with the national war labor board. NLRB accused WLB of ignoring one of the most important functions of NLRB, which is to hold elections to determine the bargaining agent in a plant.

At one point, NLRB moved to give employers the right to petitions for an election—a right which they do not have today except when there is a jurisdictional dispute. Such a regulation was proposed when it appeared that the war labor board was going ahead to order collective bargaining long after the union in question had lost a majority of the workers in the industry.

This brought the labor unions, and especially the CIO, down on the NLRB like a ton of bricks. So strong was the opposition at the first hearing that Harry A. Millis, who preceded Herzog as chairman, withdrew the proposed regulation.

Political By-Play

In this connection, an interesting bit of political by-play preceded Herzog's appointment. Millis, who had been trying for some time to resign, found in the early spring that he could not obtain an appointment with President Roosevelt. That was in the period before and after Yalta, when the late president was increasingly preoccupied with foreign affairs and handicapped by illness.

With the advent of Harry Truman, Millis was promptly given an appointment. He explained that age and overwork compelled him to retire. Then he named a candidate to be his successor. Millis' candidate had previously been approved by those within the CIO who actually run that powerful organization.

Word of this reached Democratic national chairman Robert Hannegan. He told the president he believed it would be desirable to find a head for NLRB whose connections with the CIO were not so close. The president agreed with Hannegan.

That was the reason Herzog was taken out of the navy and dropped into the NLRB hot seat. He was formerly chairman of the New York state labor relations board.

Intense 'Srtuggle

The struggle for domination of NLRB in the past few years has been intense. There has been constant gossip of labor leaders passing in and out of the offices of NLRB members, dropping "advice" where it would be most useful.

Because of the independent line he has taken, NLRB member Gerald Reilly has been repeatedly villified and abused by the CIO. Reilly has frequently been in opposition to Millis and John M. Houston, the third board member. This split, and the personal bitterness it aroused, has been exploited by both wings of organized labor.

That, it seems to me, is one of the great weaknesses of the trade unions at this moment, when the sound of knives being whetted on both sides of the industrial fence is ominously loud. Labor politicians have spent too much time and money playing power politics in Washington—time and money which might better have been spent in doing a grass root job of organization to help the unions stand up against the big wind certain to blow when the war is over.

It is only through cohesive organization that, in the last analysis, can hold a trade union together. Power wielded from Washington tends to vanish as, in fact, it may be vanishing now with a shift in the political tide.

The tendency has been to rely on agencies such as NLRB—in other words, to use the government as a crutch. That works out all right for a time. But it leads to dependence on outside support.

Herzog in his first days in office has made a good impression. In the first two cases to come up for a vote since he took over, he has voted in one instance with Reilly and in the other with Houston. Above all, he wants to establish the unity of the board. This does not mean that the three will vote alike, but that when there are dissents, they will be recognized as an honest exercise of judgment and not as mere partisanship.

That is a good approach to an unhappy situation.

DIET RULE

There was a gourmand, full of gout,
Who whimpered as he walked about
And winced with pain when someone neared,
Because the slightest touch he feared.
"How back to health?" he asked a sage.
"How life enjoy in spite of age?"
The wise man said: "The rule—pray learn it!
On sixpence live a day—and earn it!"

There was a Yankee doctor, too,
Whose patients yearly richer grew
And (let the dreadful truth be told)
Accumulated pains with gold.
One begged of him at last to tell
What medicine would make him well.
"A quart of sawdust," he replied,
"Which you, yourself, have cut and dried."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:04. Sun rises tomorrow 6:10.

A butter-in soon gets what's coming to him.

In upholding the truth we are apt to work in a fib or two.

The better we understand life, the less use we have for medicine.

Of all dead things, it seems to me that yesterday is the deadest of them all.

CURIOUS CYNIC CANTS

Getting daughter to paint her fingernails is one way to get her to stop biting them.

Yes, Alice, you are indeed happily married if you can truthfully say you have never done anything that would furnish grounds for divorce.

Somehow or other, we like the good old days when the girls used to hang men's shirts on the clothes' line instead of outside their own denims.

Perhaps the reason Grandma no longer wants to stay home nights is that she is too timid to stay home alone.

Funny, isn't it? Whenever we stumble over anything, we feel like kicking it.

The temptation to throw empty tin cans into your neighbor's yard is just about irrestible.

Hez Heck says: "All th' science in the world can't make a fish bite when he ain't feelin' like it."

GRANDMA WAS FEELIN' RIGHT PERT!!!

Worrying about the future and providing for it are two different things.

An elderly couple had been sitting in front of the evening fire a long time without speaking. At last the husband inquired, "What are you thinking about?"

To which the wife replied: "I was just thinking how long we had lived togther and that it couldn't go on forever like this and that the time will soon come when one of us will have to go."

"Yes," assented the old man, "but it is no use to worry about that now, Mother."

"No," was the calm reply, "but I was just thinking that when it does happen, I would like to go to California to live."

You can keep out of a lot of trouble by doing nothing when you have nothing to do.

A man with a new suit of clothes wonders why everyone else looks so shabby.

Nothing slows down a friendship like hasty words.

With so many people getting the can tied to them down in Washington, it would not surprise us if the American Can company was able to authoriz an extra dividend this year.

Yesterday's tomorrow's simile: As unnecessary as husband who does not play bridge, arriving home while the game is being organized.

It is not so much a question of where and how civilization began, but where and how it will end.

A he-man never wants sympathy. He only wants somebody around who seems to give a darn.

Smart Elect says when you meet a habitual borrower lend him all you have.

No man is good enough to govern another without the other's consent.

Then there is the druggist who has been forced to go back into the drug business by food rationing.

Truman appointees should do all right. A man's intimate friends are usually in his class.

Maybe Congress should keep control, but where would we be now if Roosevelt had done nothing at all but wait for Congress to act?

The New York Republican who booed Dewey's speech was arrested and tried, but came clear. Seems there is no law against boorish manners.

The pugilist had been sued for divorce and the editor sent a reporter out to get the boxer's side.

Half an hour later the newsman returned.

"What did you get?" demanded the editor.

The reporter pointed to a pair of black eyes.

"I can't print those!" roared the editor. "What did he say?"

"You can't print that either," said the reporter.

We see by the paper that a Los Angeles wife won a divorce on the strength of her husband's explanation of how he got lipstick on his face. He said he got it off the phones downtown.

The court evidently thought the guy got the lipstick off the downtown phonies.

The worst people often get the best advice.

How strange that a man always seems in the way in the kitchen until it is time to wash the dishes.

AUTO BIOGRAPHY

Observing some of the automobiles wartime restrictions are bringing, it occurs to us that if present trends continue, it won't be long until this ceases to be a joke:

First Youth: "I've had this car two years, and I haven't had a wreck."

Second Youth: "You mean you've had that wreck two years and haven't had a car."

After the evening meal the star boarder went into the sitting room. The warmth and comfort of the room thawed his heart. Turning to the landlady, he murmured: "Will you marry me?"

"Just a minute," she replied. "You have been here for three years and never once have you grumbled at the food or failed to pay your bill every week. No, I'm afraid you're too good a customer to put on the free list."

IS BEAUTY NECESSARY IN ATTAINING A HUSBAND

"I am 17—neither very homely nor very pretty. I am afraid that my lack of beauty may prevent me from getting a husband. Do you think it might."

Answer: If beauty were a prerequisite to marriage, about 75 per cent of the married women would be old maids. For the consolation of those girls who are worrying over a slight blemish or irregularity of feature, let me say, and with perfect sincerity, that I have rarely seen a mature woman who was a cripple or the victim of a conspicuous deformity who had not captured a husband.

A friend of mine often tells of a woman musician he knew who was born without any semblance of legs and yet she married a distinguished man for whom she had many rivals among pretty girls.

Elizabeth Barrett, the great poet, was a sallow invalid who when 40 married Robert Browning, six years her junior. George Eliot, the notoriously homely woman novelist, broke up the home of the noted George Henry Lewes when she was past 35 and kept him enslaved until he died 24 years later.

A study of men thus captivated by women without visible charm will prove that they are of a type that is attracted more by talent than by physical beauty. So the solution of the problem of every girl lacking prettiness is to develop a talent and become active in circles where there are men appreciating such talents.

Question: Kindly tell me the proper clothes to wear at a dinner dance at a large hotel at 8 o'clock in the evening. The men will wear tuxedos. Should I wear a hat?

Answer: A dinner dress and a wrap. No hat.

The Parent Problem
By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DUTIES OF BABY-SITTERS DWINDLE

The war has created a new term—baby-sitter. With the scarcity of available persons to stay with the baby and young child while his parents go out, older children, even adults, who stay with these children have not only required a sizable wage but have limited their services merely to sitting, as a rule, within hearing distance of the youngster while he is asleep. A few of these persons have exacted extra pay for reading to a youngster, bathing him or putting him to bed.

Boys as well as girls are baby-sitters and some are not more than 13 or 14 years of age. Washing dishes and the like, often done formerly by the person who stays with the baby or young child in the evening is a thing of the past.

Shrinking Duties

Perhaps the shrinking of the duties of the baby-keeper and the swelling of the wage are not much to be deplored, since the pay used to be woefully small and its smallness hardly reflected well on the responsibility required from the angle of the employer. It is probably means a loss in wholesome education to the adolescent boy or girl in home and family responsibilities. It's good experience for a boy or girl to wash dishes and tidy up a room and some who might not have to do such at home could gain good education while being on duty as a child-caretaker. It's still more valuable experience to read to the baby or young child, win his cooperation, bathe him and get him to bed goodnatured.

Perhaps not many months will pass before baby-caretakers will be easier to get, when they can be more highly selected. Even now, with very few exceptions, a child under 15 should not be employed for this purpose, nor should his or her mother choose have him employed at an earlier age.

Child's Sake

The baby-sitter's mother should be quite as much concerned as the baby's mother that her child shall take the responsibility well. For her child's sake, she should be sure this child is dependable before being allowed to take the job; that she is familiar with simple rules of safety and first-aid; knows the doctor's telephone number; never has her friends telephone her or call to see her while on duty; and will be delivered home by the employer.

Fine if the baby-sitter will tell stories or read to the baby or young child and derive ways to win the youngster's happy cooperation. Parents who have themselves often read to the baby and young child will have him well-prepared for such entertainment in their absence. My selected list of books to read to baby and young child may be had in a stamped envelope addressed to me at 235 East 45th street, New York City.

As a rule, an adult is far more desirable for a baby-sitter than a child in proving more stability and security, and should generally be found better for staying with several children when the eldest is as old as seven or eight.

From the time your child can understand, you should let him know early in the evening that you are going out and, as a rule, before this time, he should have spent some while in your presence getting acquainted with the baby-sitter. This time for acquaintance may be still more important with the infant from four months to two years.

Leaving the child with a dependable person with whom he is acquainted, go when you are ready, without ceremony. Don't look back. Keep no account of the child's crying. He will soon get over it and be happy.

It was interesting to read Marshal Zhukov's statement that Russia is now studying the question of demobilizing her huge armies. This will be a stupendous task, and will present a major problem with the return of several million men to industry and agriculture. It is a hopeful sign, however, to those who have been more or less fearful that Russia might have plans for Europe requiring the use of her vast military machine.

With practically half of Germany to administer, Russia still will have a large number of men under arms. It is probable also that she will have to provide a certain number for stand-by use in certain Baltic and Balkan areas. But the general import of Marshal Zhukov's statement seems to be that Russia wants to get back on a peacetime basis as soon as possible.

Equally encouraging was the Marshal's declaration that the Soviets feel it would be "useful" to have foreign correspondents in Berlin. Heretofore the Russians have operated in their administrative areas behind a veil. Free access to information by the outside press is a step forward and a manifestation of good faith toward the Allied Powers. Under the Russian idea of

Senator Makes Plea For Domestic Labor
Writer Wonders About The Average Woman
Resignation Of Col. Hobby Is Perplexing

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 26—In the senate caucus room, where the Foreign Relations committee has been sitting in state listening to the pros and cons of the Charter, I collected several good items. Had a corner-of-the-table chat with young Bill Fulbright (Senator J. W. Fulbright (D) of Arkansas), on methods of raising the esteem in which the public hold labor and, of all things else, politics.

We're pretty stupid in this country, said Bill, in not managing to give more dignity to the business of working with the hands. Certainly, he agreed, domestic labor, cooking and housekeeping should be made more of a profession. Who is the most important member of many households? Why, the cook, said Bill Fulbright. Then, why in tarnation not make her feel she is valuable? Not with extra cash, but with consideration.

The senator from Arkansas said we are even more stupid in our attitude toward men and women in public office than in our attitude toward labor. We keep talking about "crooked" politics and "crooked" politicians as though there was neither decency in the breed nor the office. Not only is there decency in the breed and the office, said Bill, there is courage and fine purpose and the devotion to duty.

I'd write about how elegant and wise the senator from Michigan, Arthur H. Vandenberg, appeared at the Charter hearing if Arthur would let me print that wonderful San Francisco story he told "off the record." But since the Republican international spearhead has gone so grim, I refuse to write what I had planned about how well he would do in the White House come 1948.

Study the crowd at the Charter hearing, decided that most crowds where there are men to listen to in church or Congress are composed mostly of women. Women certainly are spectacular nowadays. Haven't seen "an average woman" in months. Flowers in the hair, high pompadours, Japanese geisha effect. Why? Now, I wonder, bare legs, bosom rampant, man-eating lipstick, earrings the size of pie plates. And they have opinions on everything! No longer inarticulate in public, are the female of today.

Charter And Hope

Lovely words in the charter. I'd vote for it if I were in Congress. But I'd vote in the hope and not the conviction that it would cure war. I wonder how soon the lovely words would go up in smoke once the tom-toms of war began to thud, thud.

Again I say, war is exciting. Peace is dull. There's the catch to the Charter. Everybody who has been in any fighting zone will tell you how thrilling it was over there, even if you were afraid every second that you might be shot. It was the fear that made it so terrific. Almost like a continuous last act dive from the top of a circus tent. Or a catapulting from a gun. You didn't know whether you'd come out alive or not. But boy, how flat by comparison the old home place and its safety and even the home folk.

Considerable buzzing about the town over the resignation of Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, WAC director. Don't believe the value of Mrs. Hobby was ever properly appreciated. Am convinced that without her particular qualities—combination of brains and charm—none of the uniformed services for women could have been launched. Mrs. Hobby was the pioneer in this daring new field for women. She and the first WACs crashed the prejudice against women in uniform. Their fine enthusiasm and work cleared the way for the thousands of other women who followed their lead in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby is a Texas woman. Her successor, Col. Westray Battle Boyce (what noticeable names these WAC leaders have) is also from well below the Mason and Dixon line. Comes from North Carolina. Just goes to show—put a southern lady in uniform and see what happens!

LOOKING AT LIFE
By ERICH BRANDEIS

Two friends of ours recently bought a lot on which they intended to build their dream house.

(You know the kind I mean—the perfect house that every woman sees in her mind and no architect has ever been able to erect.)

The blue prints were drawn and there was just about everything that the human heart desires.

There was the perfect kitchen (women always begin their dreams with the kitchen), there were two exquisite bathrooms (that's where the men usually start to do their planning), there were fireplaces and a terrace and two lovely bedrooms for the children—well, there was everything.

They were already to build and then came the estimates.

Everything had gone sky-high. This couldn't be had and that couldn't be had.

But they could build the house, with many things missing for the time being, but it would be a home.

The cost, however, was almost a third higher than what they had figured.

So now our friends don't know whether to build or to wait.

In the meantime they are living in an apartment, and the children are growing up, and they are crowded, and there is no garden.

Shall they build or shall they wait?

He is afraid that they'll never get their "investment" back with these high prices.

She isn't thinking of the "investment" but of the happiness the house will bring them.

They asked my opinion. "You're a philosopher," they said, "you ought to know."

"Thanks for the compliment," I said, "but I'm not a practical philosopher. A banker is a practical philosopher.

"I look at life the way I would like to see it lived. I don't see it in terms of dollars and cents and interest and dividends but in terms of happiness and contentment.

"To me living is an art just like painting or composing or writing.

"If I buy a house or build one, I buy or build it as a temple for my soul and my mind.

"If I were to lose every cent I put into a house in which I am happy, in which I find peace and in which I find living a joy, it would still be the best investment I have ever made.

"If I were in your shoes," I said, "I'd build that house now, regardless of cost and even if I knew that I'd never get my money back.

"Because, you see, there is no selling price on happiness, no priorities on contentment, and both begin to pay dividends the very day you invest in them."

I don't know whether my friends will need my advice.

But if they see anything else in those blueprints besides stone and metal and wood and mortar, and prices, they will.

DEMOBILIZING WASHINGTON

Closing of the fiscal year brings many revelations regarding the finances of the nation. The public debt has run to astronomical figures, and war expenses are very heavy.

Reorganization of the government as favored by President Truman and long advocated by the economy forces led by Senator Byrd, is a vital undertaking. There are many duplications among the more than 1,200 main departments and bureaus, and there are still uncounted thousands of minor agencies set up by executive order or which have "just growed up" under war conditions. It is the dismantling of this huge network of agencies that the Byrd committee is undertaking. The White House gives support.

The multiplicity of bureaus with authority to loan government money was revealed when Henry Wallace was appointed Secretary of Commerce. These federal lending agencies were apparently accountable to nobody. Most of the lending power was taken away from Wallace by the divorce bill passed as a prelude to his confirmation. Senator Byrd then introduced his bill for bringing all the government corporations under the control of Congress and under the jurisdiction of accountants. The senator said there are about 44 agencies with loosely defined lending power and their aggregate capacity runs to about $40,000,000,000.

If all the agencies can be brought under budget control a great reform will have been effected. The Byrd committee estimates that about 1,000,000 employees, many of them in civil service, will come under the measures of reform or elimination. The cost of government will be reduced and the efficiency of the remaining forces will be increased. Demobilization of bureaus and agencies of the more lawless sort is an urgent order of business.—Tulsa Tribune.

The State Police Say:

Whether or not a person indulges in the use of intoxicating liquors is entirely his own business. But when any person operates an automobile upon our streets and highways after indulging in the use of intoxicants it becomes the business of everybody, as this person then becomes a menace to public safety. The intoxicated or drinking driver should not be the object of public sympathy if he is arrested or becomes involved in an accident. If you want to drive, don't drink.

U. S. E. S. has opened an office for white collar workers. While at it the employment service might open a laundry for white collors.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Yessir, Jim's got a great system"
GUTSCHE

A GREAT SYSTEM for Jim, that is. But a little unfair to the other swimmers.

Swimming a race or running a business is pretty easy when you don't have to pull your own weight!

Take government-owned electric power-systems, for example. They pay little or no taxes. When they need money, they can call on the U. S. Treasury and get it at little or no interest. If they have losses, why worry? You, as a taxpayer, will take care of that.

Business-managed power-systems do not have these special privileges. They pay their full share of taxes, pay fair interest on any loans, pull their own weight all the way through.

Fortunately for you and your tax bill, over 80% of all the electric power in this country is produced by tax-paying, self-supporting electric companies owned and operated by millions of Americans.

And how well are these companies doing their job?

Electricity is still available at low pre-war prices. There is enough to meet even the gigantic demands of war. And there will be plenty to help give you greater comfort and convenience in the electric living of the post-war world.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

Government ownership of any business is a threat to every American in business.

Whether you run a shop, garage or factory, government ownership means you have a rival across the street who enjoys special privileges at your expense.

He has little or no rent to pay, can borrow money at little or no interest, can keep on operating at a loss—and YOU are called upon to help make up that loss!

Near Showdown On Manpower For Railroads

Senate Committee Head Demands To Know What Is Being Done About Problem

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The controversial railroad manpower issue moved toward a showdown.

Sen. Mead (D), N. Y., chairman of the Senate War Investigating committee, sent an investigator to the Army War Manpower commission, office of war mobilization and other agencies involved "to ask what is being done on the problem."

Mead declared that the army should furlough experienced railroad men that could be spared since the collapse of Germany.

"It occurs to me that the necessity of so many railroad men in the armed services has passed," he said.

"The peak was when we were transporting lend-lease goods in Iran, were manning the railroads in France and were solving a difficult problem in Australia."

Not Enough Cooperation

He reiterated his position that there has not been enough cooperation and planning by the army for the redeployment job.

Mead made it clear that he intends to use all the force of his committee to try to get the 75,000 additional workers that ODT director J. Monroe Johnson, said the railroads must have to meet the hugh redemployment job.

Mead threatened to hold new hearings if steps are not taken to remedy the situation pictured by Johnson.

Meanwhile, the army, through undersecrtary of war Robert P. Patterson, made its position clear.

Opposes Release

It flatly opposes release of railroad men—or other types of workers.

Patterson told the Senate Military Affairs committee, in opposing the Kilgore resolution calling for release of 10,000 coal miners, that requests have been made for advance furlough of one million men.

Various groups want releases of rail workers, coal miners, loggers, stevedores, foundry and force workers, shipyard mechanics, farmers and metal miners, he said.

Sen. Kilgore (D), W. Va., sought coal miner manpower, asserting that the nation's fuel demands cannot be met next winter without more men in the pits.

Many Indicted For Violations Of O. P. A. Regulations

Fake Ration Coupons Are Also Charged To Considerable Number In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—(INS)—The June federal grand jury on Wednesday handed down 79 indictments—including a large number for violations of OPA regulations—to U. S. District Court Judge J. Cullen Ganey.

Among those named were six Philadelphians charged with trafficking in fake food ration stamps, five poultry dealers, a filling station proprietor, a vacuum cleaner repair store and a refrigerator and used gas stove dealer.

Those charged with possession and transfer of spurious food coupons were Samuel L. Rothberg and Joseph Di Cenzo, both employes of the Philadelphia county commission; Louis E. Waxman, John Conn, Edward J. Kensil and Sylvio Petruzzo.

Counterfiet Stamps

Rothberg was charged with selling 10,000 counterfeit stamps and possessing 5,000 more. Di Cenzo was indicted for selling 100 counterfeit red stamps while Waxman was charged with depositing 31,000 phoney red coupons.

Conn, an ex-bartender, was accused of having 24,210 counterfeit red stamps, 1,115 spurious shoe stamps and 800 genuine gasoline stamps worth 4000 gallons.

Kensil was indicted for buying 7255 pounds of sugar with fake stamps, while Petruzzo was charged with selling 500 counterfeit red stamps.

All six were nabbed in an OPA drive to stamp out an alleged fake ticket ring in the Philadelphia area.

The poultry dealers, all Philadelphians, were accused of overceiling sales.

CLEAN HANDS

The human hand is a very wonderful machine. Not one of our many inventions can compare with it.

Although it is so useful it can also be a carrier of disease. It may come in contact with all sorts of filth and dirt.

Worms and lice and bacteria may be carried on the hands and transferred from person to person.

Children should be trained to keep their hands away from their nose and mouth. They should wash their hands before meal time too.

Perhaps they should be told to keep their hands out of other peoples' pockets.

It might be good for their health also.

Sheakleyville High School Will Close

SHARON, July 26.—The Sheakleyville high school will not open its door this fall, after serving the community since 1909, the board of education announced today.

The decision to close the school was made for the welfare of the 24 pupils whose interest, the board said, has been lagging due to the small attendance and lack of competition in studies and sports.

The three-teacher staff was composed of Mrs. Bessie Powell, Hadley, principal; Mrs. Pauline Quillan of Greenville, and Mrs. Alice Kelso, Sheakleyville.

The school was on the second floor of the building in the center of the town which also houses the borough elementary school.

The closing of the school was not dictated by expense, according to Secretary Kennedy Graham, who said that students' transportation to other high schools would probably equal the amount spent to operate the former school.

The pupils and board have not yet decided on their choice of a school or schools this fall.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

censorship toward the Russian press, it is possible that news dispatches from Berlin might be somewhat limited. But the admission of foreign correspondents to the former capital is at least a friendly gesture and indicative of a broadening attitude.

The problems of German administration are so big and complex that a real spirit of co-operation among the occupational powers is imperative. Marshal Zhukov's statement indicates such a spirit on the part of his government.

Why not let Russia take care of the governments of the peoples over which the Russian Armies have moved in this war? I think we should not fear as much as we do the Communism of Russia, for I believe that within the next fifty years, Russia is going to be very Capitalistic State. The pictures of the Russian Marshals indicate that they are not desirous of continuing with the "share of the wealth" business in Russia, and what the newspaper reporters said concerning the dress and deportment of the members of the Russian delegation in San Francisco, also indicates that Russia will become Capitalistic.

Margaret Henry Home Youngsters To Spend Next Week In Camps

Vacation week, the week which Margaret Henry Home youngsters look forward to all during the year, begins this Sunday, when the girls and younger boys go to the Allegheny river cottage owned by Mrs. Lida J. Green, matron of the home.

The older boys, a dozen of them, will leave the same day for a week at the "Y" camp, under the sponsorship of the Pro-Indus men. Federation Juniors are sponsoring the girls' and young boys' vacation. Twenty of these younger children will camp at the Allegheny cottage, spending the week in swimming, tennis and hiking.

Part of the home's tradition is the dinner which the older boys and Mrs. Greer have together on Sunday afternoon, after the other group have left for the cottage and before the boys leave for camp.

Lawrence County Farm And Home News

By Extension Representatives, LEWIS C. DAYTON, Agriculture; MISS MARY ELLEN McCLAIN, Home Economics

TREES EFFECTIVE IN EROSION CONTROL

Trees, as demonstrated on a number of Lawrence County farms, afford protection against soil erosion, and long-range planning for tree planting next spring can be started months ahead to good advantage.

Trees provide erosion control in themselves, and also can be worked in with other erosion control systems, such as contour strip farming where they can be utilized as a cover crop, especially on very steep slopes or stony ground, and can be planted in odd corners resulting from contour layouts.

For most effective erosion control, trees can be planted at or near the top of slopes where washing can be checked before it gets a start. The litter under the trees soak up the rain-fall, much of which is guided into the ground by the root systems and surface run-off is held to a minimum.

Additional suggestions on tree planting, as well as other forms of erosion control can be obtained from at the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

POULTRY ON RANGE NEEDS GRIT, SHELLS

As growing pullets near maturity, need for lime steadily increases, poultrymen should supply adequate grit and shell material, particularly to those birds on range.

Many poultrymen keep a hopper of shell-making material before the fowls continuously from the time the birds are six weeks of age. Both hard and soft grits can be provided, along with such lime-supplying materials as ground oyster shells.

PLAY SAFE AND AVOID ACCIDENTS THIS SUMMER

Accidents can happen to anyone in the family both during play and during work. With the week of July 22 designated as National Farm Safety Week, everyone can put forth an extra effort to prevent accidents.

To help make this safer summer for play and work, the following tips are suggested:

Avoid over exposure to the sun. Wear a hat if you're going to be in the sun for any length of time.

Check outdoor play equipment for children. Pick up broken glass, nails, old boards, or any debris in the play area. Give special attention to the sand pile and see that part of it is shaded.

Be sure the window screens are in good condition and are securely fastened to prevent children from falling out if they lean against them.

Tie curtains back securely so that drafts from open windows won't blow them out over the stove where they are likely to catch fire.

Home canning may cause some accidents. Help to avoid these by lifting covers of canners so that steam can escape away from you; use strong tongs for removing hot jars from canner; store cold jars shelves that are strong and secure; and use a sturdy stepladder to reach high shelves.

Put garden tools away as soon as you are through using them. Store where they won't fall on anyone or where a person can trip over them.

SOW COVERS CROPS AT LAST CULTIVATION

The last cultivation is the best time for sowing a cover crop in corn, tomatoes, and truck crops. Ryegrass is the "surest, cheapest and best cover crop yet discovered."

Twenty pounds of ryegrass per acre — with normal rainfall — gives these fields an erosion-resisting cover over the winter. The seed may be applied with a hand operated broadcast seeder, or by means of a seed box on the tractor.

If a cover crop is sown ahead, the cultivator must be run shallow or the seed will be covered too deeply. Some farmers prefer to sow on the loose soil immediately after the cultivator. The next rain gives about the right covering.

FRESH STAINS DISAPPEAR WITH PROMPT TREATMENT

Fruit juice, grass, and mud stains are common during the summer. The following are a few helpful suggestions for removing stains.

All fruit stains are easier to remove when they are fresh and wet than if allowed to dry. This is particularly true of peach and red or purple berry stains. These stains are set by soap and may change color. If the stain is on white or colorfast washable material, stretch the fabric tightly over a bowl and pour boiling water from the tea kettle over the stain. Pour the water from a height of 3 to 4 feet so it strikes the stain with some force. If fruit pulp is present, it may be necessary to rub the spot between applications of hot water. If the stain remains after several treatments, hang the garment in the sun to dry. Or the stain may be moistened with lemon juice and the material dried in the sun.

Grass stains, though easily acquired, are not difficult to remove. If the material is washable, hot water and soap may be used, rubbing the stain vigorously. Ether or wood alcohol may be sponged on fabrics which are not washable.

The simplest way to remove mud from clothing is to allow it to dry, then brush carefully. Be careful that the brush is not too stiff or the fabric may be damaged. If brushing does not remove the stain and the fabric is washable, it may be washed in soap and water. However, on non-washable fabrics, the stain may be sponged with wood or denatured alcohol.

TESTERS NEEDED FOR PENNSYLVANIA'S D. H. I. A.

With more than a hundred testers needed throughout the State for Dairy Herd Improvement associations, more men and women interested in dairy cattle should consider this field for permanent employment.

A short course for testers will be conducted August 22 to September 5, at the Pennsylvania State College. This short course has been planned primarily to train testers for Dairy Herd Improvement association work. Besides the shortage developing in testers from wartime conditions, many testers are entering artificial breeding work, making an acute shortage in this field of work.

Full details on vacancies now existing, details involved in the special course of instruction, and similar information can be obtained at the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Seventh Ward

WEDNESDAY'S STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

Reorts from various locations in the ward indicate that Wednesday evening's storm was somewhat violent. Before the flag that flies above the Honor Roll, at the corner of Madison and Liberty street, could be taken down, it was whipped in the wind until the flagstaff was bent; screens were blown out of windows and window broken, a large branch was twisted off a tree between Madison and East Clayton street, corn, tomato and other plants levelled in gardens; in the Mt. Jackson area at Wylie Brewster's place on Powder Mill road, trees were blown down, one uprooted and awnings blown off the windows and chickens killed, hail was quite heavy; following the storm there was four or five inches of water in the fields. The rural carrier had to detour this morning from one of the roads at Fullerton bottom south of Mt. Jackson on account of fallen trees blocking the road.

SOLDIER FRIENDS MEET IN GERMANY

To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Iovanelli of South Cedar street, comes word from Cpl. Joseph Monaco that he recently met the former's son, Lieut. Mike Iovanelli in Germany, and had about forty minutes chat. The ward soldiers who were close friends before entering the service, had not seen each other for three years.

Cpl. Monaco is attached to the engineers corps, and has been overseas for about two and a half years. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Monaco of 416 North Liberty street. Lieut. Iovanella is with the air corps and went overseas ten months ago.

BIRTHDAY CLUB HONORS

Saturday evening, members of the Birthday Club will journey to Cascade Park. A tureen dinner will be served in the grove at 6:30 to members and their families.

GETS WAR TROPHIES

Mrs. Ruth Daugherty of Mt. Jackson road has received an interesting collection of war trophies and souvenirs from her husband, Pfc. Mark Daugherty. They include iron crosses, nazi flag, nazi soldier heating stove, and coins. Pfc. Daugherty is attached to the infantry corps and at present stationed at Alerson, Germany.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gibson and son Kenneth of West Madison avenue, have left for a fishing trip in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. David Evans and family of North Cedar street, and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Evans of West Clayton street, are vacationing at Milton Lake, Ohio.

Mrs. Grace Froella and son of Reimersburg are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Domenick of 26½ North Liberty, and Mrs. Antoinette Froella of 119 Frank Way. The former will soon make her home in this city, during her husband's service in the armed forces.

Mrs. Alvira Russo of South Cedar street, has returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Coraopolis and Clairton.

Huge Building Being Planned In New York City

NEW YORK, July 26.—(INS)—Plans were revealed today for construction of the nation's second largest industrial building, featuring an indoor three-quarter mile highway permitting trucks to drive directly to any of its 13 floors.

The 15 million dollar structure, to be built in downtown New York as soon as materials are available, will be second in size in its class only to Chicago's mammoth merchandise mart.

The proposed building's indoor highway will have its own traffic light system and will accomodate 36 fast-moving vehicles an hour.

Home At Harbor Hit By Lightning

Rain Extinguishes Blaze Before Arrival Of Neshannock Township Firemen, Who Respond

Neshannock township fire department answered a call to the home of Clair Baum, R. D. 1, Edenburg, which is located at the Harbor, about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when lightning struck the roof of the Baum home, and set the house on fire near the eaves, Chief Edward J. Miller stated today.

The firemen found that the heavy rain, which entered at the hole in the roof where the bolt struck, had extinguished the flames. Considerable damage was done by the bolt.

Donations Add To Station Wagon Fund Of Salvation Army

Recent contributions are bringing the Salvation Army's station wagon fund to within sight of its goal, according to Thelma Dundon, local captain.

Women of the American Legion auxiliary donated $25 last week, and Mrs. Edward Erb of New Castle gave $5 recently. The check from the paper salvage drive sponsored by the Salvation Army last May has not yet been received from the paper salvage committee, Captain Dundon said. When the check does arrive it is expected to complete the fund.

Gas Turbine Engine Ready

JEANNETTE, Ja., July 26.—(INS)—The first gas turbine, capable of developing 2500 horsepower for ship propulsion was in operation today at the Elliott Company, Jeannette.

The new turbine, developed jointly by Elliott and the U. S. Navy Bureau of Ships, required two years to construct and takes its place with the steam engine, steam turbine and international combustion engine.

Engineers said the turbine, demonstrated yesterday at the plant, would soon be capable of generating from two and one-half to 10,000 horsepower.

William A. Elliott, executive vice president of Elliott Company, said the first turbine plants will be completed and installed in ships in about nine months.

Remove Prison Warden And Six Aides At Jackson

Probe Of Conditions At Michigan Prison Being Made — Many Changes Made

LANSING, Mich., July 26.—(INS)—Warden Harry H. Jackson of Jackson prison and his two chief deputies and four aides were removed from office today, charged with responsibility for maladministration, graft and vice conditions within the institution.

The Michigan correction committee ordered the immediate suspension of the men upon the recommendation of Attorney General John Dethmers, who declared their removal was necessary to correct the "malodorous conditions" in the prison—largest in the United States.

Commission Chairman Leslie Kefgen announced that administration of the prison had been turned over to Dr. Garret Heyns, corrections department director.

Removed with Warden Jackson were Deputy George I. Francis, Assistant Deputy D. C. Pettit, Chief Inspector Walter Wilson, Director of Classification H. Charles Watson, Director of Athletics Richard Riley and Joseph Poirier, inmate accountant. They were pledged an early hearing. Meanwhile, state police were alerted to move into Jackson in the event that the "gangster rule" allegedly uncovered by the attorney general's probe might flare in revolt to the new regime.

In demanding the ouster, the attorney general reiterated charges that prostitution, gambling and job buying ran rife wtihin the prison.

Meat Spoils As Result Of Strike

Report 27,000 Pounds Spoiled Result Of Tieup In Pittsburgh Packing Plants

PITTSBURGH, July 26.—(INS)—An army officer said today 27,000 pounds of meat have spoiled in an 11-day-old walkout at two plants of the Fried & Reineman Packing Company.

Capt. C. R. Phillips, of the Quartermasters Corps' field headquarters Chicago, said the meat included 4,000 pounds of beef for sausage, 5,000 pounds of hams and shoulders, 8,000 pounds of pork trimmings and processed sausage, and 9,000 pounds of pork for canning.

Captain Phillips, who inspected the meat for removal by the army, said it was in such condition that the army could not use it.

Patrick B. Mullen, president of Local 424, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Union, said the 350 strikers would not help the army transfer the meat.

Thomas P. O'Hearn, district supervisor for the department of agriculture, said the two plants have 775,000 pounds of meat in storage.

The plants were closed when employes protested the company's failure to grant certain "fringe benefits."

OPA Struggles With Quotas; Suggests Housewife Use Salt

Fruit is on the market and the housewife is on the spot. Of course, she would like to get as busy as possible, canning peaches and making berry preserves to add value to her family's war-restricted diet next winter, but what can she use for sugar?

Local Quota Cut

The local ration board has had its quota of canning sugar cut until it is wondering just what it will be able to issue to its applicants. The limited amount allowed to the board is, however, being divided among as many canners as possible, with the result that each household is getting less than it requested and much less than it wants. Applications are filed the day they arrive, and the sugar is issued as fast as quotas permit. At the present time allowances are about ten pounds per member of the family, but if the quota is cut again the allowances will be reduced.

Part of the board's job, according to Alvin J. Williams, director of this district of the OPA, is to try to decide just which applicants are really going to need the sugar most desperately. Last year many persons applied for sugar which others may have needed, and then used it for baking, candy, iced tea and coffee.

Housewife Wonders

With full sympathy for the millions of persons suffering from malnutrition in Europe, and with understanding that the needs of the army and navy come first, the housewife still wonders if all of the sugar she once had could possibly be used for these people. The answer is no, but here's where it does go. A large amount is used in making surgical dressings, anaesthetics, X-ray plates, and goes into the making of plasma and penicillin.

In severe head injuries, pure sugar solution is often shot into the blood stream to relieve what might be fatal pressures on the brain of the wounded serviceman. And in addition, some 900,000 tons of the 1944 Cuban sugar supply went into the production of alcohol for use in the synthetic rubber program, Mr. Williams adds. Products from sugar are also used in the wing coating of planes, in plastics for instrument panels and in dry cell batteries.

Can It Without

But the verdict isn't irrevocably against canning, the district OPA office points out. No fruit need be wasted because of shortage of sugar because, although sugar gives the fruit buoyancy so that it looks much nicer and has better tecture, it is of little or no help as far as actually preserving goes. It is the heat and proper processing, emphasizes the OPA, which preserves the fruit. When canning without sugar, however, the housewife should use one-eighth teaspoonful of salt for each cup of liquid.

Salt, it seems, emphasizes the natural fruit sweetness. If there is sufficient juice, no water is needed. Otherwise, add whatever amount of boiling water is necessary to obtain enough liquid, and then add the salt. Pack the precooked or raw fruit in jars to within one-half inch of the top, seal each jar, and then process.

New Training Is Preparing Troops For Japs

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—The War department disclosed today that European veterans will be trained in radical new methods to fight the Japanese including the maximum use of flame-throwers and jellied gasoline.

This disclosure was made at the weekly War department news conference by Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding all Army ground forces. Devers also said that the big job ahead for America is the massing of seven million men at home and in the Pacific to crush Japan in the shortest possible time.

Given New Training

The former commanding general of the victorious Sixth Army group said that European veterans would be given a minimum of eight weeks of training before redeployment to the Pacific and that "we are going to try some radical things to bring about the quick defeat of Japan."

Pressed by reporters for details on "the radical things," Devers said they included the use of flame throwers and jellied gasoline to greater advantage because of the Japanese technique of holding out in caves and underground strongholds.

He also said that this included the use of "snakes," a device which is used to blow away underbrush which hides approaches to dug-outs and caves.

Use Of Searchlights

The general also said that experiments were continuing in the full use of searchlights to turn night into day during attacks after dark.

Devers said this method was highly successful in routing Nazi garrisons and that it might be used in the Pacific. He said beams of light are thrown against low-hanging clouds and the reflection acts like indirect lighting.

Simultaneously, Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson disclosed that the first American division to return from Europe for redeployment—the 86th Division—has begun reassembling at Camp Gruber, Okla., for additional battle training.

Patterson said he wanted to bring up this fact not because it was the first division to begin moving for action in the Pacific, "but because of the remarkable spirit which these men are showing."

God's Promise of a Nation

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Abraham entertaining the angels.

"I will bless thee . . . and be thou a blessing."—Gen. 12:2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 29 is Genesis 17, 18, the Memory Verse being Genesis 12:2, "I will bless thee . . . and be thou a blessing.")

Abraham—whose name has heretofore been spelled Abram—was 99 years old when our lesson today begins. He was an old man when God appeared to him and said, "I am the mighty God; walk before Me, and be thou perfect."

That seems to be expecting a great deal of a man, but that is what true Christians should strive to be—perfect. Abraham fell on his face before God and the Lord told him that he was to be the father of many nations. "Neither shall thy name by Abram any more, but thy name shall be Abraham," adding an H, one of the radical letters of the name JHVH, which is translated Jehovah. His wife's name was thenceforth to be Sarah, not Sarai, as heretofore—also adding the sacred letter.

Abraham was to keep the Lord's covenant, and according to this covenant every male child was to be circumcised, the infant when he was eight days old. Of Sarah, Abraham's wife, the Lord said, "And I will bless her and give thee a son also of her; and she shall be the mother of two nations; kings of people shall be of her."

In his heart, Abraham laughed at this prophecy, as Sarah and he were both old. In the previous chapter of Genesis, the story of Sarah and her handmaiden, Hagar, an Egyptian, is told. Sarah so much desired a child that she told her husband to have one by Hagar, which he did. But when this child was to be born and named Ishmael, Hagar despised her mistress and things became so unpleasant that Hagar ran away. The Lord found her wandering in the wilderness and sent her back to Abraham's tent, telling her to submit herself to her mistress. There Ishmael was born, and at this time he was 13 years old, and Abraham was evidently very fond of him.

Lord Blesses Ishmael

Abraham spoke of this boy, and the Lord promised to bless him and make a great nation for him. "Twelve princes shall he beget," the Lord promised.

"But My covenant will I establish with Isaac"—which was to be the name of Sarah's son—said the Lord.

One day Abraham was sitting at the tent door in the heat of the day, when he saw three men approaching. Abraham went to meet them and asked them to his tent, saying he would have water for them to wash their feet and food for them to refresh themselves. He undoubtedly realized they were not ordinary travelers, but the Lord and two angels.

They accepted his hospitality and ate the food that was prepared for them. Afterwards they asked where Sarah was. "Behold, in the tent," Abraham answered. Again the promise of a child was repeated, and Sarah, hearing it as she stood partly concealed by the tent door, laughed to herself because she thought such a thing could not be.

"And the Lord said unto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah laugh, saying, Shall I of a surety bear a child, which am old?

"Is anything too hard for the Lord?" Sarah denied she had laughed, being frightened.

Threaten to Destroy Cities

The men then rose and looked toward the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah and the Lord said they were wicked cities and He was going to see if they really were as wicked as had been reported. Abraham went with them as the Lord had said, Shall I hide from Abraham that thing which I do?"

Lot, Abraham's kinsman, lived in or near Sodom, you remember, but Abraham did not mention him when he asked the Lord, "Wilt Thou destroy the righteous with the wicked?" Suppose, he said, that 50 righteous persons should be found. The Lord said He would spare the city for the sake of the 50.

Asking forbearance of the Lord for his boldness, but without fear, five more times Abraham interceded for the few righteous persons who might live in these cities. If there were 45 good, or 40, 30, 20 even 10, would they perish with the guilty? No, said the Lord, if there were but 10 guiltless ones the city would be spared.

"And the Lord went His way as soon as He had left communing with Abraham; and Abraham returned to his palace."

The tree is one of the largest elms in the county and has a tremendous wing spread. It has been a landmark on the ground for so many years it would be a shame to see it die. Mr. James hopes the prescription he is using will be what the doctor ordered.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Denies Special Probe Of State Liquor Control

Auditor General Wagner Denies Investigating Of $1,000,000 In Orders

HARRISBURG, July 26—(INS)—Auditor General G. Harold Wagner denied today reports that a "special investigation" of the state liquor control board was under way.

It was reported that Wagner was investigating orders for more than $1,000,000 worth of liquor purchases made by the board.

In a statement released by his deputy, James B. McFadden, Wagner said: "It is true that I am withholding approval temporarily of some requisitions for purchases."

The act of legislature is mandatory that the auditor approve all liquor board purchases.

"I have never had the reputation of conducting a rubber stamp office," Wagner said, "and when I have sufficient information before me so that I can intelligently approve or disapprove these requisitions, I will do so."

McFadden explained that all board orders, with the exception of approximately 150 for brandies and wines had been approved.

"I think the story is a bit exaggerated," McFadden stated. "It's only a routine checkup."

CAFE ARGUMENT CAUSES ARREST

Frank Sparano, seventh ward cafe operator, appeared as a witness in police court today with a sore nose, when Thornton Bruno, the defendant, appeared for a hearing before Acting Mayor Albert Hoyland. Bruno having been accused of having been implicated in trouble at his saloon shortly after midnight.

The police report said Sparano refused Bruno permission to buy a drink at 12:35 a. m. and an argument and encounter ensued.

Today Bruno was in police court. Sparano said he did not wish to file an information against Bruno when an arrangement was made with Bruno to pay for damages at the place. Acting Mayor Hoyland discharged the defendant without a fine.

Henry Clay and William Jennings Bryan, both brilliant orators, were each defeated three times for the presidency of the United States.

Lengthy local and long distance telephone conversations make it tough for the other fellow these days. There just isn't enough central office equipment to let everyone talk to his heart's content. Pan-American Highway Had High Priorities

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The Pan American highway, which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower once opposed as being of little military value, was revealed today to have had a priority that topped critical war plants in the United States.

At the same time, an army service forces officer defended the project as helping the war effort by aiding political and economic stabilization in Central America.

High Priority

Lt. Gen. Leroy Lutes, ASF chief of staff, told the Senate war investigating committee that the project had a number 12 priority, matching that of the all-important Panama Canal.

This rating, surpassing any project within the United States, and topped only by combat areas and those closer to war zones, was given despite the condition in approval of the project which specified that it not be allowed to interfere with the war effort.

Lutes contradicted the April 9, 1943, report of Lt. Gen. Eugene Revbold, chief of engineers, who said the work was interfering with the war effort.

"Did General MacArthur have everything he needed then?" snapped Senator Ferguson (R) Mich.

"Political Weapon?"

Lutes said he "thought" MacArthur had "all of this type of equipment he needed."

"What about gasoline and rubber," Ferguson retorted.

At the same time, Ferguson wanted to know if the highway was "a political weapon."

"If it was, then I can understand why it cost so much," he said. "We wanted it to cost a lot to help the economy of the Central American republics."

Lutes cited a letter of July, 1941, in which former Secretary of State Cordell Hull was quoted as endorsing the highway "to help the war effort by stabilizing politics and economy in Central America."

Lutes defended the project both for political and military purposes.

"Militarily, the road was an insurance policy," he said, pointing out that Jap pincers still pointed at United States in 1942. He said that the Army Service Forces expected the road to be finished within a year.

Hats May Prove Clue In Murder At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 26—(INS)—Police said today that a man's rakishly styled hat may prove to be the key to the robbery-slaying of George A. Schnelbach, 70, president and chief steward of the Orpheus Singing society.

A Panama hat, which was worn by the dead man when he was attacked and robbed yesterday near the Dilworth school, is missing.

Another headgear of the "zoot suit" variety, was found near the body of Schnelbach who died of a brain concussion after being struck on the head.

Police said the murderer may be traced through the stylish hat or the missing straw.

Local Infantryman In Hospital With Serious Injury Received June 25

Car Dealer Cannot Sell After July 31 Unless Authorized

Dealers who have not filed for and received an authorization number will not be able to sell used cars at warranty prices after July 31, the New Castle Price Panel Board announced this morning.

This authorization number must be written on the certificate of transfer when a dealer sells a car, and without it the certificate will not be good. Dealers should already have filled in the blanks for authorization numbers and should have sent them to the District OPA office in Pittsburgh.

Old Gray Mare Is Painted Red; Horse Will Suffer

JOLIET, Ill., July 26.—(INS)—The old gray mare Roy Coveney's dad, William, bought for him about three months ago ain't what she used to be.

That was why three teen-aged Joliet boys were summoned into police court today.

Roy went to get his horse yesterday, then ran screaming to his dad. The elder Coveney rushed over to the pasture and gasped.

Standing in the field was a horse covered from stem to stern with bright red enamel.

Police called the enamel job an "outright act of cruelty since the horse's hide will blister under the turpentine".

Three boys were rounded up. They said "we thought it was funny".

Legion Bond Drive Comes Near Goal Of Ten Million Dollars

HARRISBURG, July 26.—(INS)—Additional reports to the state American Legion today disclosed that Pennsylvania's Legionnaires sold more than $6,100,000 in war bonds during the seventh war loan for the purchase of three hospital ships.

Adjutant Edward A. Linsky of Harrisburg explained that approximately 90 of the state's 704 posts had submitted reports to the drive which was aimed at the sale of $10,000,000 in war bonds to purchase the "mercy ships" and avenge the Japanese bombing of the U. S. S. Comfort off Okinawa.

Johnstown post No. 294 reported the sale of more than $3,000,000 in war bonds, Linsky said.

Morgenthau Urges Treasury Changes

Tells Congress Secretary Of Treasury Should Be Supreme Finance Coordinator

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—Former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., urged congress to give his successor, Fred M. Vinson, full authority as supreme coordinator of government finance.

In an unprecedented proposal summarizing his 12-year tenure of office, which ended last Monday, Morgenthau suggested that Vinson be given sweeping powers over government spending, lending, borrowing and insuring.

"I believe that time will prove that the wise course for the congress to pursue is to place the responsibility for financial planning and expenditure control squarely upon the shoulders of the secretary of treasury," Morgenthau said.

He recommended that congress bring under the treasury the billion-dollar federal lending agencies, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the National Housing Agency as well as the financial operations of the Departments of Agriculture, Post Office and Interior.

Return Budget Bureau

He further proposed that the Budget Bureau, long separated from the treasury, be returned to its jurisdiction to give the secretary supervisory power over spending.

Though the treasury secretary is identified as the chief fiscal officer, his control and influence are limited to "one side of the ledger," Morgenthau explained.

"He (secretary of the treasury) is not in a position to exert proper influence over the use and disposition of funds he must raise and account for to the nation."

Morgenthau called this a "material handicap to the functioning of the Treasury Department and, moreover, to the orderly and unified conduct of the government's financial affairs."

He maintained that the treasurer should be the "master coordinator of all the federal fiscal policies."

Finally, Morgenthau recommended the creation of a national committee for fiscal affairs with representatives from eight fields, of which the secretary would be chairman.

Mosquito Larvae Resist DDT Use

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 26.—(INS)—The formidable New Jersey mosquito appears to be holding his own against the latest science can offer in its war of extermination.

Researchers of the state agricultural experimental station at New Brunswick, reporting on experimental use of DDT, report the new insecticide kills adult mosquitoes but is producing doubtful results when employed against larvae.

Larvae lying on surface waters succumb to DDT, but many Jersey varieties of mosquitoes lay their eggs under the surface. They appear to be unaffected while the insecticide has been found to be fatal to some varieties of fish.

Red Ruffing To Try His Arm In Game With Macks

Rufus The Red Back From Three Years In Army Hopes To Get Back In Stride

OTHER YANKEES EXPECTED BACK

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Charlie Ruffing, pitching bellwether of the New York Yankees for lo, these many years will make his 1945 debut in the American league this afternoon.

A bit rusty from three years in the service, Old Rufus the Red is scheduled to try out his ancient soupbone against the tail-end Philadelphia Athletics here.

All-Service Battery

The Yanks will present an all-ex-service battery, for Aaron Robinson a recent coast guard dischargee, will do the catching.

Ruffing has been working out with the Yanks for quite a spell since he donned civvies. He realized he needed plenty of time to get his bombsights adjusted.

Charlie probably will relish the chance to swing a bat more than he will enjoy trying to fool the hitters. He was given a chance as a pinch hitter recently and came through with a base hit.

There are a bunch of good hitting pitchers in the American league this year, but the chances are that Rufus the Red will show them all up once he gets his eye on the ball.

Others May Return

Ruffing's return incidentally, coincides with a report that Joe McCarthy may remain with the club as manager next year if other old Yankee stars return from the service. With the Japs kayoed, such Yank headliners as Joe Dimaggio, Charley Keller, Billy Johnson, Spud Chandler, Joe Gordon, Phil Rizzuto and Tommy Henrich would be back working for Marse Joe, and this would give the old pilot a new lease on life.

Such a development, it is believed, would ease the mental strain under which McCarthy has been laboring. For some time now, he has been suffering from a bad case of collywobbles from watching inferior material perform.

No games were played in the big leagues yesterday.

Mort Cooper Faces Operation On Arm

NEW YORK, July 26.—(INS)—Mort Cooper, ace pitcher of the Boston Braves, probably will face Brooklyn here tomorrow, but only for four innings.

Cooper, en route here from St. Louis where he was treated for a chipped bone in his pitching elbow, will be able to pitch for only a few innings at a stretch during the remainder of the season, he informed his team-mates. He expects to undergo an arm operation in the fall.

Seniors Call Off Annual Tournament

Critical Food And Merchandise Shortages Causes Committee To Delay Tourney Till 1946

Faced by the necessity of staging their annual senior day golf tournament at Castle Hills this year, in the face of growing shortages of food and merchandise, the senior committee held a meeting at the course, last evening and decided to cancel the event for men over 50 for this year with a bigger and better tourney already planned for 1946.

The 1944 officers of the senior day committee were re-elected to serve in 1946. T. H. "Tommy" Hitchcock, president; Mont Magill, secretary and treasurer. Harry Hornberger who was vice-president has resigned from the committee.

The committee played round of golf despite the rain last evening and enjoyed a picnic lunch at 6:30 o'clock in the clubhouse, with the following committee members present: Mont Magill, E. E. McGill, Sam Lewis, Morgan Jones, Sr., William Nunn, W. I. Clark, Dave Aston, Dan Reebel, and Dr. W. P. Felch.

County League Games Tonight

Legion At Wampum; Ellwood At Marshall Field With Moose; Hillsville At Edinburg

Three more Lawrence County league baseball games will be played tonight (weather permitting), with all games due to start at 6 o'clock.

The league leading Moose club will entertain the Ellwood City team at Marshall field and hope to snap the Ellwood jinx over the Moose this year. The Moose have not defeated Ellwood this season. Tonight Manager Rodenbaugh will call on Bob Probst to do the pitching and Ellwood will have Ralph "Specs" Farrante on the mound. The game at Marshall field will no doubt draw the biggest crowd of the season.

Legion At Wampum

The American Legion All-Stars will travel to Wampum tonight to battle the Wampum Victory club team, and will send either Al Koszela or Chuck Tanner to the hill against Dick Powell. These two teams have not met yet this season. Both are anxious to win. The Legion, fresh from its upset of Ellwood City Tuesday, will try hard to make it two in a row tonight, while Wampum, after being nudged at Hillsville Tuesday, will try to grab the win this evening. A fine game is looked for.

Hillsville At Edinburg

The Hillsville team managed by D. Perrott will try to make it two in a row tonight when they travel to Edinburg to oppose the rampaging Tigers who have yet to dent the victory column in the league for the second half. It will be Hartman on the hill for Hillsville with the Tigers Manager Edgar Leeper probably taking the mound himself.

Angel And Sherman Participate In Unscheduled Bout But Cops Terminate Struggle

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—(INS)—Skeptics began to think today that some of the dislike shown by rival wrestlers in the ring may have a basis in fact after all.

"The Angel," otherwise known as Maurice Tillett, appeared in Portland municipal court after police had untangled him and another bone-bender, Benny Sherman. They were putting on an unscheduled match without benefit of canvas or referee on the steps of the civic auditorium, where "The Angel" was to appear.

Tillet and Sherman both were charged with disorderly conduct. The charge against "The Angel" was continued—tantamount to dismissal. Sherman said he will plead guilty.

Tillet's manager, Karl Pojell, claimed that Sherman tried to get even for a defeat he suffered at "The Angel's" hands at St. Etienne, France, in 1934.

GORDON STILL HIGH FLIER

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 26.—Lieutenant Norm Gordon, former Penn State cross-country captain, still finds flying trips over the country-side to his liking.

The Philadelphia youth, a fighter pilot, completed 27 missions before returning to this country from Italy.

Penn State has incorporated a permanent open date midway through its 1945 football schedule.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 26.—A half dozen muscular, acquistive and sometimes hunger-stricken characters have come out of South America in the last 20-odd years determined to pick up that Wild Bull of the Pampas title which Luis Angel Firpo used to wear. None has succeeded. Most of these gents, in fact, were rank bums who couldn't hit a bull with a bull fiddle.

That hasn't stopped them from trying, and we now have another Wild Bull of the Pampas pretender among us, a young man answering to the name of Abel Cestac, who will be referred to henceforward as Junior Wild Bull of Pampas, Jr.—which is a much of a wild bull title as we will give him until he proves himself.

Meets Thomas Friday

Junior will get his unveiling at Madison Square Garden on Friday night in a 10-rounder with one John Thomas, of Miami. He has been here several weeks practicing for the occasion by going through his routine of bellows, charges straight ahead, and snorts, under the watchful gaze of assistant keeper Max Waxman. The head keeper of our Wild Bull, Jr., is Jack Dempsey.

What could be sweeter? Dempsey, will be recalled by those who can remember back to September 14, 1923, tamed the original Wild Bull in two rounds of savagery never equalled in a heavyweight championship fight.

It seems that Firpo went back to his own land with no feeling of resentment toward Dempsey, but rather with an eagerness to discover and develop a top flight heavyweight to send on to his old rival for a build up into title contention. Junior thus is in Dempsey's care, authough he currently is otherwise engaged with his war duties.

Firpo Looks Them Over

The story of how Firpo came upon Junior runs this way. Any time Firpo hears of a young heavyweight in Argentina he rushes away in one of his several automobiles and looks him over.

If what he sees is impressive he gives the young man a tryout. This consists of putting on the gloves and learning at first hand (1) whether the fighter can take a punch and (2) whether he can deliver one.

He cornered Junior one day, went through the usually preliminary routine, then they laced on gloves and squared off. Firpo, now scaling 290 pounds, presently stepped in and nailed Junior, who only smiled and promptly knocked Firpo through the side of the barn.

That's what the script says.

So Firpo packed the young man up, sent him here and his 230 pounds of ferocity will be placed on public view Friday night.

New Castle Moose took undisputed possession of first place in the Sylvan Heights Golf League last night, when the Shelby Social team failed to appear or ask for a postponement of their match scheduled for last night. Other results found the Sons of Italy defeating Ellwood City Moose 3½ to 2½; and Saegertowns nosing Universal Sanitary Manufacturing 3½ to 2½.

Frank Palmer of Saegertowns was medalist with a par round, while Stan Bukowski had a 37, with B. Palmer, Dave Ferry, and Pete Dinneco scoring 38's, and Tinny Lombardo, a 39.

First Half Ends In Legion League

Four Teams Have Chance For Pennant, With Postponed Games To Play Off

With the first half in the American Legion Junior League ended, except for several postponed games, four teams have a chance to win the pennant, while a fourth team, is close to the top.

Elks, who started the season as the Dean Park Dodgers have three postponed games to play off, Falcons have four, Sons of Italy have three, Cardinals have 2, and South Side Legion has three. South Side Legion has an outside chance, having won ten and lost five, but they would have to win every one of their postponed games, while the Elks, Falcons, Sons of Italy, and Cardinals, would have to lose every one, to gain the flag.

The standing, as given to date, which will be changed with the playoff of the postponed games, follows:

	W	L
Elks	12	3
Sons of Italy	12	3
North Hill Cards	12	4

Nelson Faced By Tough Opposition

CHICAGO, July 26.—(INS)—The toughest field he has faced since becoming Mr. Golf was all set at Tam O'Shanter today—to battle J. Byron Nelson right down to the wire in the main ring of the All-American golf tournament.

The cast included a collection of big-name stars who didn't have to qualify; several top-notchers who were overlooked by the boys who make up the preferred list and 39 others who found yesterday's trials in the men's open so fast that they had to hit within three strokes of Tam's 72-par to get in.

Penn State soon will issue a football film depicting the highlights of every season over a ten-year period.

Softball Title Game On Friday

Rain Storm Wednesday Forces Postponement Of Lockley-DeCarbo Bomber Game

The severe rain storm yesterday afternoon made Marshall field a lake, and caused the postponement of the scheduled Lockley Machines-DeCarbo Bombers first-half championship battle. The game will be played on Friday night at Marshall field at 6 o'clock (weather allowing), it was announced by Managers Joe McCaskey of the Lockleys and Tip Richards of the DeCarbos at 9 o'clock this morning following a conference.

The games in the league for the DeCarbos and Lockleys for Friday night are automatically cancelled and will be played later. The only game to be played in the league Friday night will send the Shenango Pottery to Colonial field, off Euclid avenue on the North Hill, to battle the Universarl Pottery, it was announced.

Carver Contends Joe McCarthy Is Done As Manager

Joe McCarthy Doesn't Fit Into Scheme Of Things With New Bosses

YANKEE MANAGERS JOB WIDE OPEN

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Joe McCathy is through as manager of the New York Yankees. It is not official yet. He may coast through the rest of this season, but he has tried to resign three times since the first of the year and it is ordained by this time his career as a field leader has about reached the finish.

There may be an announcement tomorrow, next day, or next month that he finally has given up after leading some of the most poular teams of modern times to eight pennants and seven world series. He is and always has been a unique character. Drab, uncommunicative, quiet, he has set the pattern for the Yankee teams of recent years which have been great on their power but so utterly colorless that they might have been a church choir instead of a ball club.

Wants Different Club

President Larry MacPhail does not like that kind of baseball. However, he might put up with McCarthy anyhow on his record of production except for the coincidence of MacPhail taking over the club and McCarthy's current illness. This paves the way to a resuffling among the Yankees.

Personally, I think that MacPhail—because of his past performance—wants a different Yankee club from the one we have known for so many years.

And as far as that goes, just who is going to take Mr. McCarthy's place? The logical choice would be Art Fletcher, number one boy on the Yankees coaching staff and currently in charge of things (things aren't too godd, by the way) while Marse Joe is off and away in his Buffalo retreat thinking things over.

Position Very Open

But Fletcher has said time and time again that he wants no part of the Yankee managerial pie. And in a way, you cannot blame him.

When MacPhail was with the Dodgers it got so there was more MacPhail than Dodgers. Joe McCarthy is not the kind of manager who flourishes under such conditions. It is doubtful if Art Fletcher who has become thoroughly schooled in the McCarthy tradition, could run a MacPhail-type ball club either.

All of which leaves us very much up in the air and all because one of the very finest managers in baseball history is scheduled to hang up his spikes.

Stolz-Mouzon Bout Arranged

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—(INS)—Allie Stolz, crack Newark lightweight, was signed Wednesday by promoter Herman Taylor to meet Westley Mouzon, outstanding 135-pounder of Philadelphia at the Arena stadium, Monday, August 6.

Stolz has won three bouts, one by a knockout, since a recent return to the ring. Mouzon's professional record includes 11 knockouts in 22 straight victories.

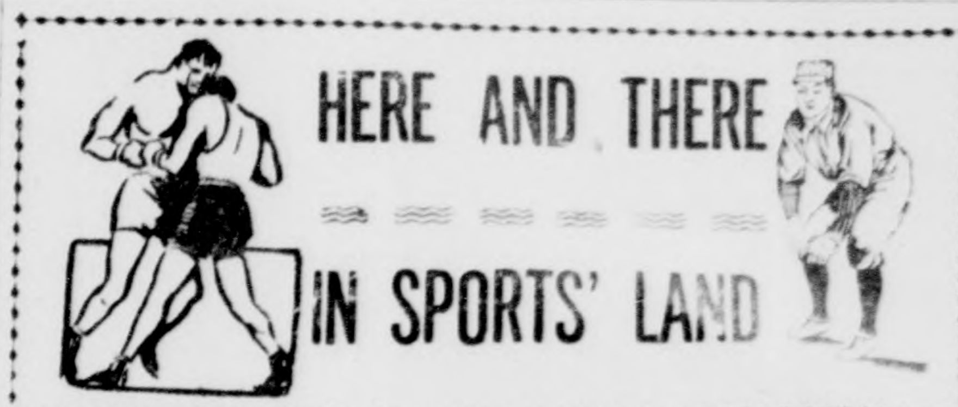
THE WINTER CO.



"A FISH POND on every farm. Think of what it would mean. Many times we have dreamed, talked and written about it. We have received a good response through letters from readers of this column, each of them apparently greatly interested. But that was pre-war dreaming and playing with something that seemed tough to get into action. Then came the war and labor shortage knocked the machinery anticlockwise," writes Seth Myers, in his weekly letter to Northwest Sportsmen. "Now comes our post-war planning, and with it, what a chance to warm up the starter. We can have farm ponds galore; not on every farm perhaps, but at least there can be many times more than we now have. The farm owners are willing as indicated at a meeting last Saturday in Harrisburg. The state agricultural conservation committee approved such a plan in their 1946 program. They believe that farm ponds are important for many sound reasons such as preventing erosion. They realize that in farm ponds they have good water for their livestock during dry summer months. They would create a plentiful supply for use in the event of fire. With rural electrification they will have pumps for fire use. Each year more than six million dollars of public money is spent in Pennsylvania for worthwhile conservation projects. Why then cannot a part of this be used for building dams and ponds? If grange and sportsman organizations will get behind such a plan it is quite likely our state government will be interested.

"Once we have such ponds available they can be stocked by the state fish commission, providing they are left open to public fishing. If not, they can be privately stocked and fished. This would help as there would be less fish taken from public waters. Once the fish are stocked they can be made to grow fast and large, through the use of common fertilizer and according to an article written by David O. Woodbury under title 'Your Life Tomorrow,' the fish themselves won't eat the fertilizer, but the microscopic plankton-tiny animal and plant life—will thrive on it and vastly multiply. Fish that live on plankton have a hard time getting enough to eat in ordinary waters, for these small living things do not thrive in them. But once their food supply is improved, the fish will live like kings. Tests show that a typical trout yield of four pounds per acre of water can be increased to 120 pounds by adding the right amount of commercial fertilizer. Fish fed on the new diet are bigger and tastier than the old ones that had to scrape for a living. They are reported to be gamier, too."

Jesse Owens, the great U. S. Olympic champion of 1936, comes up with the prediction that sprinters soon will lower the 100-yard dash time to :09.3 seconds from the present world's standard of :09.4 seconds. That's a job for a second rater, isn't it? Southern Association is heading toward another million customer gate this year, according to Billy Evans, the ex-umpire, ex-sports writer, who now is head of the loop . . . Lt. Comdr. Tex Oliver, placed on inactive duty after serving in the navy three years, is back on the University of Oregon campus at Eugene where he will resume his duties as head football coach of that school. . . . Ruffles Johns of Hollywood is home on a visit.

Claire Book caught two bass on one cast. Another oddity is that two Ohio anglers caught the same fish, a 2½-pound silver bass, recently. Their flies were traveling side by side on the retrieve when the fish struck, and both lures were hooked a quarter of an inch apart in the bass' wide mouth. The fish was landed but there's no report on who took it home. . . . During the Pennsylvania beaver season, which began February 15 and closed March 1, trappers bagged 1,663 animals in the 36 open counties. There are beaver in Taylor river near Plaingrove, according to a recent report. . . . Among football notes we find that Notre Dame is in for a gloomy season. Only six players from the varsity will be back for the 1945 campaign and Coach Hugh Devore is having trouble sleeping nights. Ten teams are on the schedule, including Army and Navy.

Universal-Deshon Playing Tonight

The postponed Universal Pottery-Deshon Annex softball game from last night will be played tonight, instead, it was announced by both clubs. The game at the Annex will start at 6 o'clock. The Deshon team will be the home club.

No date has been set for the other two postponed softball league games for Wednesday night.

STILL GETTING POINTS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 26.—Pepper Petrella, Penn State's top football scorer in 1941, still rates highly as a point-getter.

The Downingtown youth, veteran of 73 air missions in the Burma-China theatre, earned his discharge by accumulating 105 points over a two and one-half year period.

Joe Tepsic, the ex-Marine who played baseball and now is seeking a berth on the Penn State football team, is considered a crack golfer. He hits a very long ball.

REACTION OCCURS IN STOCK MARKET

Outcome Of British Elections Causes Lower Levels In Stock Market Today

NEW YORK, July 26.—(INS)—The Labor sweep in Britain tilted the stock market to sharply lower levels this morning. Many pivotal issues dropped a point or more before support tended to halt the decline.

Volume totaled 279,000 shares in the first hour, just about double the amount in the same period yesterday. A good share of the selling came shortly after the opening. At the start of the second hour, activity slowed down when pressure eased.

Steels were among the first issues to react, Bethlehem Steel and U. S. Steel cracking a point each. Rails were shaved sizable fractions in an active trade.

Motors were lower with Chrysler down a point. An individual feature was strength in Graham Paige which spurted more than a point on over-night news of the company's ambitious plans in the post war auto field. The stock changed hands in blocks ranging to 40,000 shares.

Coppers, aviations, and rail equipment faded as much as a point and a half. Bids for utilities were adjusted to fractionally lower levels. Bond market quotations eased.

Army Air Force Maps Plans For Smashing Japan

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The army air forces moved swiftly today to put on the finishes to the final blueprint for the destruction of Japan.

The pattern promised more devastation than Germany ever experienced in her dying day.

The outline for mounting aerial attack against the Nipponese homeland was traced for newsmen by Lt. Gen. Ira A. Eaker, army air forces chief of staff. He predicted that virtually the whole American world air force will be used to bring the Pacific enemy to his knees as quickly as possible.

Study German Results

Most startling was the disclosure by Eaker that a revision has been made within the past ten days on plans for raids against Japan from lessons learned in the complete subjugation of the Nazis.

According to Eaker, a civilian committee has been studying the effectiveness of American and allied air blows against Germany, and their recommendations already are being incorporated in strategic bombing plans in the Pacific. He declined to give details on the changes.

Another important factor cited by Eaker was the disclosure that the total air forces personnel to be used eventually against Japan would be almost equal to the strength of American air power employed on all fronts prior to the collapse of Germany.

Gigantic Air Power Ready

The chief of staff of the air forces said that a total of 2,130,000 air force personnel would be used against Japan as compared to a pre-V-E day peak total of 2,400,000. He said only about 300,000 men would be released from the air forces between now and next spring.

There is no bright spot on the horizon for Japanese civilians and military personnel inasmuch as the growing air forces already are dropping on the enemy homeland a tonnage equal to the average monthly bombing total used against Germany.

By the end of this year, Eaker said, the tonnage dropped on Japan would be far greater than the peak month of activity in Europe. The peak in Germany by the American and British air forces was 135,000 tons, and Eaker said Japan would feel the total of 270,000 tons before January.

Another indication of America's growing aerial might was given by Eaker when he revealed that recently the army air forces had ordered a cut-back of 44,300 combat planes which previously had been ordered for delivery during the remainder of this year and 1946.

The general also disclosed that the army had ordered the termination of all contracts for production of B-17 Flying Fortresses and parts. He explained that the air forces now have enough B-17s to take care of any foreseeable demands in the Pacific and that 4,000 of the four-motored bombers already have been returned from Europe.

RATIONS BOOSTED

GROVE CITY, Pa., July 26.—(INS)—The Grove City rationing board announced today it is allowing each person 10 pounds of canning sugar instead of the five pounds being issued by other boards.

Failure of the Grove City board to use any of its sugar allotment during the early days of the 1945 rationing makes the increase possible.
